A true Account of a Revelation, &c.

Commit. Middlesex. June 1. 1719.

HIS Day Feremias
van Husen of Crip-plegate, London, came before me, and made Oath, that on May the 29th, as he walk'd backwards and forwards in his Parlour, between the Hours of Seven and Eight in the Morning, he perceiv'd an Impression made on him, like speaking distinctly in the German Language; but that truly he neither heard a Voice, or saw any Appearance.

He

He deposeth likewise, that endeavouring to removē the Surprise, by recollecting what he had before employ'd his Thoughts upon, and by reasoning with himself, that what he had just now felt was only the Effect of his own Imagination, occasion'd by too intense an engagement on the Subject which then employ'd him, he was a second Time strongly impress'd with the following Particulars; which when they had been gradually manifest ed to his Understanding, and all deliver'd in the Order wherein they now lie, and the Revelation was over, they all appear'd at one View to his Apprehension, and then ran themselves over again in his Memory in the said Order.

He deposeth likewise, that during the the said 29th Day of May, he found his Mind at ease, but that the Particulars of the Revelation very often recur'd to his Thoughts ; that he slept very well that whole Night, and Two Hours longer than usual, without any Dream or Interruption : But that, on the next Day, May the 30th, about to a Clock in the Morning, he perceiv'd a vehement Disturbed-ness in his Breast, which wou'd not suffer him to sit still, or remain long in one Posture or Place ; that he perceiv'd a want of Appetite, and Disinclination to every Thing about him ; that he continued in this restless Condition till Bed-time, a little before which he found his Head very much disorder'd ; but that he slept well all that Night.

He

‘ He farther depos'd, That on ‘ the next Morning, May 31. he ‘ waked with high Disorders both ‘ in his Head and Breast ; that he ‘ rose about Six, and finding him‘ self discompos'd to a strange de‘ gree, he went abroad and walk'd ‘ till Twelve into the Country ;
‘ that his Disorder continuing, and ‘ rather encreasing than diminishing, ‘ he return'd home, and threw ‘ himself on the Bed in hopes of ‘ Rest ; that he roll'd there for Two ‘ Hours, without any redress ; that ‘ by Six in the Evening all his ‘ Limbs and Joints partook of the ‘ Malady ; that he felt no sharp or ‘ pungent Pains, but an universal ‘ Disquietude and Pressure ; that he ‘ was unable to eat, and what lit‘ tle Wine he drank appear'd nau‘ seous ; that he continued in this

‘ Con-

Condition all Night, without any Degree of Sleep, and that in the Morning his Breast seem'd to him to swell even to bursting ; that for the last Twenty Four Hours he had no remembrance of the Revelation. But that on this Day, June the 1st, they all present themselves to him, and give him Torture, and seem to press him to declare them ; that he found himself begin to be easy upon the first Resolution to come to me ; and that now he has made Oath of the following Particulars, he finds himself in the same Condition wherein he was before he was first seiz'd on May the 29th.

Memorand.

I observ'd him to deliver the following Particulars with great Calmness and Facility, and having ‘ desir’d him to sit down and refresh ‘ himself with what my House af‘ fords, I discoursed with him for ‘ Two Hours together, and found ‘ him a sensible intelligent Person, ‘ well vers’d, I believe, and skill’d ‘ in his own Business ; and that he ‘ has nothing, not one Word to add ‘ or diminish to what he has here ‘ sworn to, and is intirely insensi‘ ble how these Things were com‘ municated or convey’d to him, ‘ or how he felt their Force, or the ‘ other Sensations which affected ‘ him, having never troubled him‘ self with Politicks or Party-quar‘ rels, or ever employ’d any pre‘ vious Thoughts upon the Things ‘ hereafter deliver’d.

Jurat coram me Hor. & Die prædict.

John Shephard.
